Introduction

I made this set of initial letter sound posters and coloring pages to help the youngest of learners familiarize themselves with each letter of the alphabet and its corresponding initial sound. (For the vowels, I have included an additional poster and coloring page to exemplify each long vowel sound too.)

Each coloring page displays a cute letter character in the middle of the page that children can color. I have added a letter-formation visual on the left hand side of each page (which children can finger-trace), and a letter tracing opportunity on the right hand side (which children can trace over multiple times using different colors). Each page displays five pictures that begin with the focus letter. The name of each picture is written under it, and children can highlight, circle, underline or dot-paint the letter in focus contained in each word.

These coloring pages can be bound into a booklet too. If this is something you would like to do, I have included a cover sheet you can use.

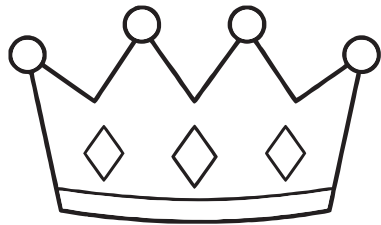

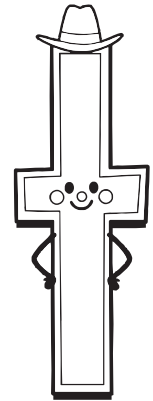

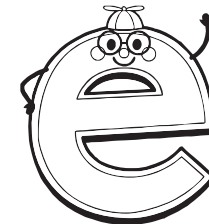

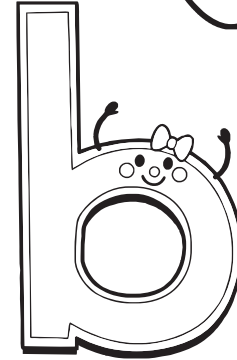

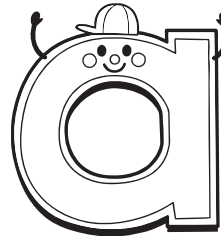

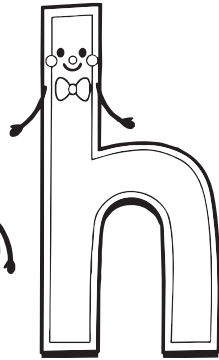

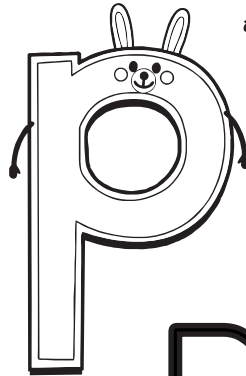

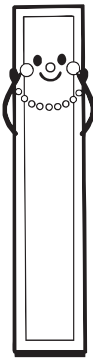

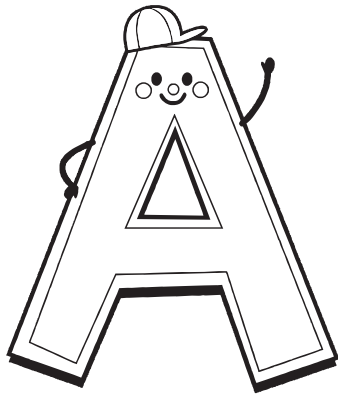

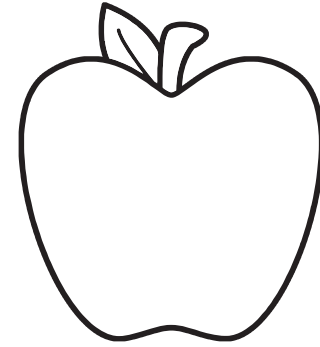

The colored posters can also be used as flashcards; simply reduce the size when printing! If printing 4 pages on one piece of paper, you can punch a hole in the top left corner of each flash card and secure them with a key ring and hang them in your alphabet or word work center.

Happy Teaching :)

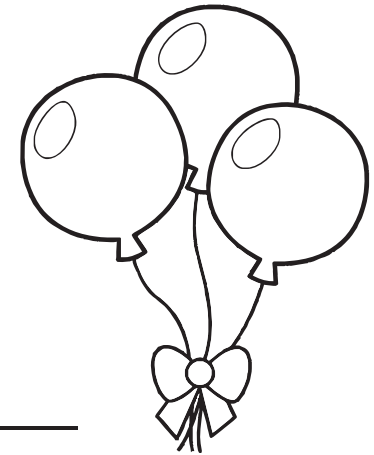

* This unit contains some duplicate pages to accommodate Australian and American spelling.

* Additional pages have been added for different letter formations for some of the letters.
